

26th Path The Devil

One of the paths that falls into the category of 'Dark Night of The Soul' and if that doesn't fill you with excitement, what will! Don't panic. See it as an opportunity to come face to face with the truth of yourself in a way that's totally run by you, for you and benefits you. It uncovers the faith you have in a higher power and how it expresses itself in you. It is the first path that links you from personality to soul.

All your wrong ideas are sent into the glare of the Sun, beliefs are challenged, and darkness has light shone into the corners to expose what is waiting to be transformed or released.

The trust you place in others will be shown as well placed, or the opposite might be true, loyalty is something that can only have value if it has been tested, and tested it is. That can also manifest as loyalty to your own ideals, your beliefs and what you place your faith in. Seek spiritual assistance from your guides, your inner being and faith in whatever you deem worthy of your own loyalty.

What this path offers is a stronger sense of spirit, greater pragmatism, confidence, and to listen to your own inner voice above others.

Hod to Tiphareth 'The Renewing Consciousness'. So called because it is the means through which the Blessed Holy One brings about all new things which are brought into being in His creation. The path is represented by the eye, the all seeing eye.

Guidance

What's real? Not reality TV, that's something you know with certainty, but do you still watch it, do you binge on that series your friends told you you MUST watch? Distractions all, you know that, but do you know what or who else is a distraction, an illusion? Look around you, look for the less obvious and ask where you're being made the scapegoat for the dramas of others, caught in your own series-link? As your spiritual energy increases you will attract challenges that reveal those that would make you their stooge, it's a compliment of sorts; it shows how much you've grown that you're now asked to see and break free from the illusions of your old world. Reality is not the same as truth, the first is what you now see in front of you, the latter is what you must now find out for yourself.

Foresight

What are you talking yourself into or out of, based on nothing but what others have said, what others do? Standing in your own glory isn't as easy as some would have you imagine, but you're ready now to do just that. Shatter the illusions around you, time to be truly you.

Revealed

This path runs between Hod and Tiphareth, its name means eye, it is also Capricorn and the Tarot card is The Devil. One of three paths referred to as The Dark Night of the Soul, here you are truly tested on your own truths and asked to acknowledge who you truly are; warts and all.

Activation

Imagine you're out walking one day and coming towards you is you! How does that conversation go? Confront your true self, journal on what they tell you and pay attention to what could be an illusion and what's a hard truth.
