

Tree of Life Month 10

Self Expression and Creativity

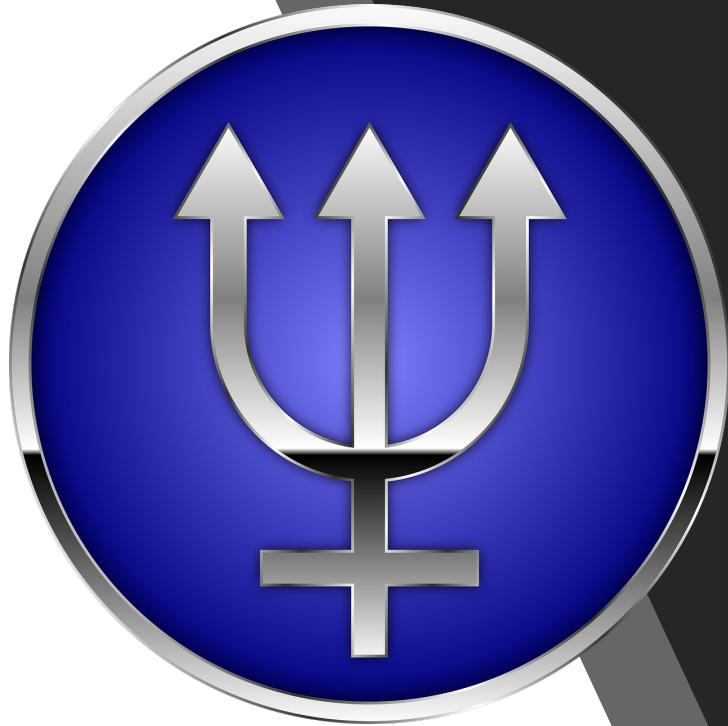

You are here!

You Are Here

- Home to Neptune, this is where you literally come into your own magic, where you understand the truth of who you are. At least as much as we can whilst still on earth. And there's the tough bit of this temple, you are limited to an earthly understanding. Sometimes it's all held in a dream, this is one of those times.

Neptune

- It's an obvious link, the symbol is the trident as befits the god of the sea.
- He can show a fear or a love of water, depends on planets and placements but there is way, way more about him.
- He's the planet of dreams, or magic, or mystery and he's often the cause of that, that, what's it called, you know, that thing? Memory loss.
- This is where you express your inner Merlin, your Morgane, your world or Fae, Mermaids and Magical Beings.
- He's also about cinemas, photography, images, making videos, your intuition, institutions, hospitals and the veil between this world and the next.
- He's generational, takes about 14 years to travel through a sign so all those people born within those 14 years are part of a cohort. Think about that. All with the same magic, a task to complete perhaps?
- The 60's were drugs, sex and rock and roll, Neptune in Scorpio!, that's the world expression of his transit

Creativity is Self Expression

- Who are you? We ask the question again, who are you?

- Is it easy being an individual in a world of tribes, of teams, groups and belonging?
- This is where you meet the unique you, the singularity in amongst the collective, the most precious jewel in the whole of the universe and Ioniel wants you to know how much you are valued.
- Your ability to shine your light whether you're dealing the deepest of darkness or the most blinding of lights is the consistency you havenow achieved.
- Those who claim to work in the light may not always be as individual as they would have you believe, following the formula of the grey worlds that cloak themselves in false light.
- You are the purest of light, every word, every deed, everything from your highest place of truth, integrity, creating your world through full self-expression of your divine nature.

Nothing No-Thing

- The crown, sitting at the top, over your crown chakra on the physical body, but not on the head, above it. Until this point you know nothing, no-thing, but here you just might know something is going on, not much, but something. It's not the easiest of places to understand but isn't that the point; governed by Neptune and sitting at the very top of this magical tree would you expect anything less from this the end and the beginning of your mystical journey? In this state of being there is no action, no reaction, it's supposed to be that vague and attempting to over analyse it will make you feel dizzy, if you're not already?
- But you do not stand at the top, you're currently living in the world of the physical and as such looking up in wonder you can never fully immerse yourself in the world of Ioniel and still be fully in a physical body. So, it appears veiled, protecting you and shielding you from the blinding light behind the veil. God looks down, man looks up.
- Imagine the power when you not only recognise but also feel that energy within you, that creative and all-encompassing spiritual energy that holds this divine plan that once activated will come down and manifest via your personality. What force, what form, what magic will you bring?
- Neptune's nature is to lose himself in order to find what he is looking for and to suddenly come out with the answer. This is also a planet of the mystic, the seeker of magical knowledge and with Uranus beside him it must be about as magical as it gets.

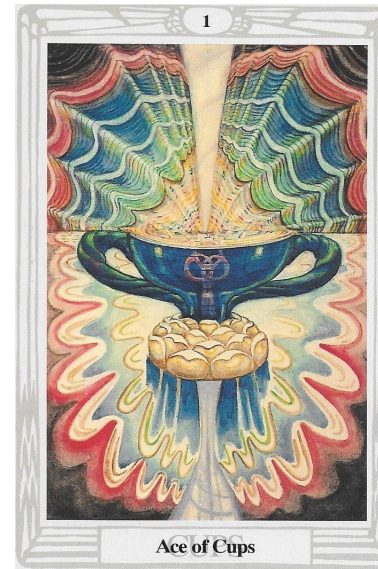

This is Me

- Your exercise is very easy, or is it?
- Redo your This is Me
- Who are you, really. Nobody need see it, so be full on with this. One or two pages, let it flow. Who are you?
- Once you're clear on that, what do you want next?
- Ponder your dream for your next consolidation. Big magic this way comes.

Tarot Cards

- The four Aces really don't need much of an introduction, they are the first rush of energy of their suits; Fire, Earth, Air and Water.
- Ace of Wands – The beginning of a new life, a new creative project or literally a new life, a baby.
- Ace of Cups – The beginning of a new relationship, the granting of a wish or perhaps inspiration to begin something new?
- Ace of Swords – Clarity, obstacles are removed, you can see your way through.
- Ace of Disks – A new job, the start of a new project or perhaps becoming more involved with earth conservation?

Homework

Find your Neptune what does it tell you?

This is Me

Where you do you express yourself fully

And how?

How can you do more of it

Go BIG!

Nope BIGGER than that

Write down you experiences

 Have a great holiday

Do some navel gazing

Watch your dreams, they will be funky

Next, and final meet is on Facebook Sunday 18th at 10AM
