Polarity and Silence

Saturnian Energy

- The focus of your Saturn sign is often attributed to what you do for a living, it can be seen as a career planet. It's odd that his energy is attached to such a strong feminine energy as Kikanta, Queen of Heaven, until you look at things a little deeper.
- Kikanta's energy is all about form, all about giving shape to what's coming into manifestation for you and whilst you can think of that in terms of building materials, she suggests you also think of it in terms of giving birth? The female ENERGY gives shape.
- Consider the gentleness, how does it bring strength. Ask your guides, inner self or soul for more information. This is where you now meet your divine connection to what shapes your spiritual pathway.

The Universe Card/The World

- This card is about completion, it's about bringing everything you've worked on into form. It's also about making sure you see the value of finishing things, not leaving them half done and it's a valuable card to meditate on when think you're flagging, not able to go the distance.

- See it as a card that hold great strength, but also the encouragement to keep going no matter what the blockages are.

The Lovers is the Gateway Card

The Lover's card is the path to the temple work, you will be required to walk through this card. It's symbolic of choices.

This card speaks of balance between energies, male and female, black and white, fire and air. It isn't as simple as it looks. Investigate the card more.

The Four Queens

- The divine feminine representation of each element.
- Seen as a person or an aspect or yourself.
- If they come up, are you being asked to take a new stance?

Temple Set up

- This is the temple of silence, three is the magic number and it's a surprisingly sparse temple when you get to it. Here's where you meet that part of you that aches for stillness, sits in silence with the yearning or need to be, to do.
- A remote location offers you that space, you will meet Kikanta and much of what she has to say to you has no words, not a riddle, just actual fact.
- Take a light touch when you set this temple up, there isn't much need for anything but the simplest of structures, the minimum you need to feel supported.

Kikanta

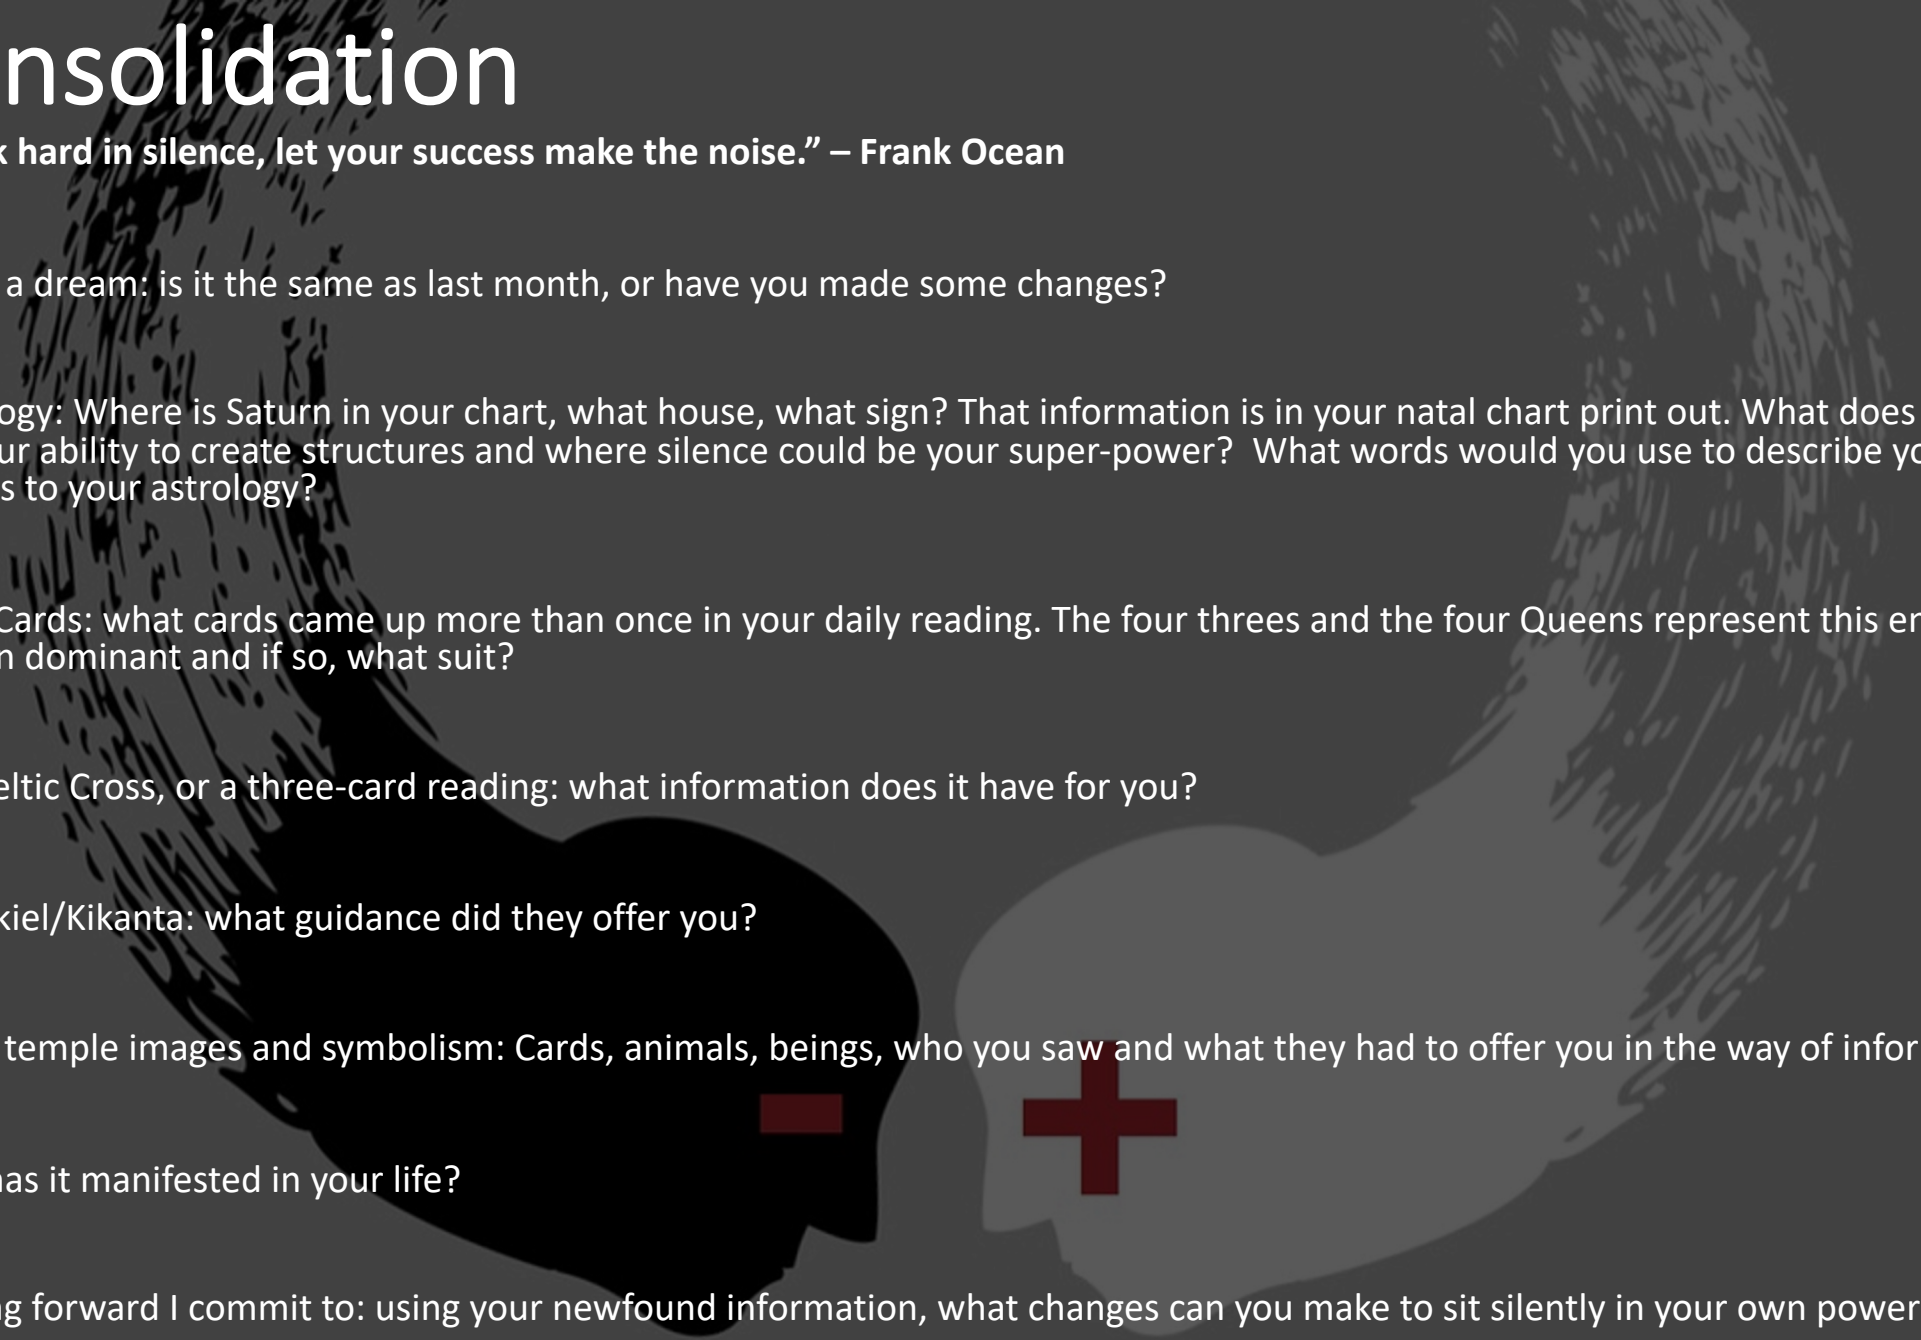

- Here you meet the magnificent Goddess Kikanta, Queen of Heaven and Guardian of the Eighth Gate.
- She sits between death and life, between force and form and offers you the peace to see all and to make your decisions in silence.
- She offers you a chance to understand your grief, to release it into the great Sea of the Universe and to be all that you can be, untethered by anyone's beliefs, prejudices and passions.
- Cloaked in black she stands on the edge of a cliff looking out to sea, is she melancholy, longing for someone's return or defending her shores? Only you can say.
- She isn't your words, she's your mouth, your tongue, your teeth and your breath. The structures that make it happen, not the event itself.

Consolidation

- “Work hard in silence, let your success make the noise.” – Frank Ocean
- I have a dream: is it the same as last month, or have you made some changes?
- Astrology: Where is Saturn in your chart, what house, what sign? That information is in your natal chart print out. What does it tell you about your ability to create structures and where silence could be your super-power? What words would you use to describe your responses to your astrology?
- Tarot Cards: what cards came up more than once in your daily reading. The four threes and the four Queens represent this energy, have they been dominant and if so, what suit?
- The Celtic Cross, or a three-card reading: what information does it have for you?
- Tzaphkiel/Kikanta: what guidance did they offer you?
- Other temple images and symbolism: Cards, animals, beings, who you saw and what they had to offer you in the way of information.
- How has it manifested in your life?
- Moving forward I commit to: using your newfound information, what changes can you make to sit silently in your own power?

Being Your Own Channel

It's time for the talk, a deep conversation with your soul that may surprise you. How to listen, how to now move forward on your own using the methods you've learnt and open yourself up to be the channel you always were.
